About the role...

If you're passionate about creating a great university experience, we want you! We're looking for people who care deeply about what they do, that's what's most important to us.

To thrive as a Sports Coordinator, you would need to be, well, into sports. It might seem obvious but in this role, you'll be part of our lovely Activities Team and this is our only sports-related role. So if you're the one who always explains the offside rule to your classmates friends, you fit it nicely! As Sports Coordinator, you would mainly be speaking with leaders of Sports Clubs, so you would need to know your stuff, as well as being approachable to students.

Application Deadline: 20th July 2020

Student Networks.

“Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed, citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has.”
Margaret Mead

Our mission at Hoodersfield Students' Union is to make student life better - and ensuring all of our students' voices are heard is a big part of that.

We want to make sure we are supporting students to work together to offer guidance to the university to improve the student experience, alongside representing and selling their views from a position of authenticity.

Our five student networks are volunteer, student led groups which are defined and directed by their individual members. We have the BAME Ambassadors, Disabled Students Network, Global Students Network, LGBT+ Students Network and the Women's Network.

Check out how to join the networks and what they're up to by clicking the links below.

Advice

We know how important you're wellbeing is.

The Advice Centre understands that university is a stressful time and you may encounter difficulties during your studies. We could be anything from depression and anxiety to bullying or sexual health. The Advice Centre is there for you should you first yourself in difficult circumstances and we will get our best to listen and point you in the right direction for support.

Ease Your Mind is a project that started in 2018, we've produced an Ease Your Mind handbook which is full of tips and useful information and for ourselves to help you with the steps to feeling better. Browse the book below to have a look through the pages, or you can download a copy of our Ease Your Mind book or visit our Advice Centre to take one home! The booklet is not intended as a sole resource for people experiencing significant mental health issues, you believe you are suffering a mental illness, we strongly urge you to seek professional assistance. The Ease Your Mind booklet is not a replacement for professional treatment.

Get to know what The University can do for you.

The University Health Centre is an NHS General Practice for registered patients, you can register here if you are a student studying at Huddersfield Uni. If you need to book, the first guidelines on registering at a doctors and dentist whilst you're at uni can then take a look at this link.

The University Health and Disability Service work in conjunction with the university and can help you get back on track if you're struggling with mental health issues or any illness that impacts on your studies. They have a team of support people who help and give you the representation that you need. They also have a team of welfare officers, with their website to use what they do. You can book a same day appointment with wellbeing and disability services for an initial consultation by phone (01484 374000) or (01484 374000) between 9am and 5pm.

And if you are struggling with anxiety and depression, or any mental health issues, then as a student at Huddersfield University you have free access to Big Mind Well this is an online mental wellbeing service offering self-help programmes and a community to talk to - 24hours a day.

We've also put together a list of contact details for charitable organisations offering help that you might find useful.
